

Engagement Course Attributes Setup Explained

Course Attributes are used to explain something extra about a class in the catalog. Specifically, Engagement Course Attributes explain a uniquely integrative educational experience. Sections will automatically inherit the engagement attributes listed at the course catalog level. If the catalog lists specific Engagement Activity and Engagement Competency attributes, all sections of the course must list those same attributes. If the catalog lists generic TBD attributes for a course, departments may choose to list either specific attributes or generic TBD attributes for each section during open scheduling, or by submitting RCS Section Forms. If the catalog does not list engagement attributes for a course, departments may choose to offer one or more sections within a semester for engagement credit, selecting either specific or generic TBD attributes for the section.

Scheduling a Class with Engagement Attributes

Step 1: Navigate to Maintain Schedule of Classes. Class Attributes are displayed under the Basic Data tab.

*Course Attribute	Description	*Course Attribute Value	Description
SEA	Student Engagement Activity	TBD	Engagement Activity TBD
SEC	Student Engagement Competency	TBD	Engagement Competency TBD

Step 2: A section offered for Engagement needs exactly one Student Engagement Activity (SEA) and one Student Engagement Competency (SEC) course attribute.

Choose only one SEA and one SEC. Assigning more or less than one each prevents engagement from appearing on the student's record.

Step 3: Select specific attributes for sections where all students will complete the same Activities and Competencies. Select generic, TBD attributes for sections where at the start of the term, each student chooses the Activity and Competency they will complete. Instructors must verify the specific Activity and Competency selected by each student when grading at the end of the semester

WHEN ADDING or CHANGING 'TBD' on the class section CHOOSE ONE FROM EACH COLUMN
